

Nixon Calls For Congress To Act

UNL To Host . . .

Symposium On Relations

A University of Nebraska-Lincoln symposium on Argentine-U.S. relations will draw participants from both North and South America when it opens early next month.

The symposium is set for Oct. 4 and 5 and will be held in the Nebraska Union on the UNL campus.

The affair will concentrate on cultural, economic and political relations of the two countries during the 1960s, but will also include discussion of the future of relations between the two American nations.

The idea for the symposium grew from discussions earlier this year when officials of the Argentine Embassy visited the Lincoln campus.

Plans for the symposium were announced last spring by Carlos M. Muniz, then Argentine ambassador to the U.S.

The Argentine Embassy will co-sponsor the affair with the Institute for Latin American and International Studies at UNL, and Muniz will be one of the participants.

Participants will also include Luis B. Mey, former dean of the School of Economics at the National University of Buenos Aires; Arnaldo T. Musich, former economic adviser to the Argentine president; Miguel A. Zavala-Ortiz, former Argentine foreign minister; Jose Gomez-Sicre, chief of the technical unit on visual arts and crafts of the Organization of American States; and Raul A. Estrada-Oyuela, secretary for cultural affairs at the Argentine Embassy.

Among American participants will be David Jordan, chairman of the Woodrow Wilson department of government and foreign affairs at the University of Virginia; James R. Scobie, chairman of the department of history at Indiana University; James Theberge, director of Latin American studies at the Center for Strategic and International Studies at Georgetown University, and several more U. S. Scholars.

Joining participants from other American universities will be several UNL staff members, including Melvin D. George, dean of Arts and Sciences; Harish C. Gupta, professor of economics; Lois Pierce, instructor of art; and Chancellor James Zumberge.

Helping organize the event has been Roberto Esquenazi-Mayo, director of the Institute on Latin American and International Studies and chairman of the local planning committee.

Multiracial Families More Common

By PATTY BEUTLER
Star Staff Writer

Brewing in the American melting pot is a new kind of family whose members are as mixed as the ingredients in a genuine goulash.

No longer is the look-alike factor a criterion for adoption.

Oriental, American Indian, mixed black and white and Spanish-American children are becoming brothers and sisters in reality as they are being adopted in greater numbers by couples whose concern is for the child and not for his racial background.

In Lincoln, a good example of this new breed of family can be found in the Robert Manley home, where four older "biological" children, ages 21-15, were joined first by a Korean brother and sister, both 13 years old, and then by two younger sisters of mixed black and white background.

Couples contemplating trans-racial adoptions will get a rousing go-ahead from the Manleys, whose experiences have been virtually all positive.

Two by two, in the fashion of Noah, is the way the adopted Manleys came to the family.

"I don't think it's good to raise just one child of a different race," said Mrs. Manley, noting her concern for the child's security. "With two," she continued, "each can look at the other and think, 'my parents love me so much they wanted another one.'"

What kinds of problems are a child and his adoptive parents likely to have when the relationship crosses races?

"I thought he would ask questions," said Mrs. Manley of 13-year-old Kelly, her first-adopted Korean. "But instead he reacted in a violent way." Belligerent behavior in school erupted from the youngster who "didn't look like his parents."

It was at this point that Mrs. Manley explained to Kelly why he was part of their family, stressing that where he was conceived was not the important thing. "It's God's plan that you be part of our family," she told the boy.

Temperaments Vary

The child's temperament also influences his reaction, noted Mrs. Manley. She recalls how 13-year-old Susie, also Korean, was conscious of "my other mother" when still a toddler. She knew there was something different about her, added Mrs. Manley.

Five-year-old Joy and four-year-old Becky, both of white-black parentage, are very aware of their black heritage and are drawn to black people, reports Mrs. Manley.

She recalls a situation when she commented on a lady's lovely lavender coat, only to be rebuffed by Joy who added that "she's got a pretty black face too."

'Just Be Proud'

Whether they choose to identify themselves with blacks or whites will be up to Joy and Becky, stressed their adoptive mother. "They're just as much white as black in their parentage," she pointed out. But her main concern is that they "just be proud of what they are."

How do friends and relatives react to trans-racial adoptions?

"There's no problem once people are around the children and get to know them," answered Mrs. Manley.

She was thinking of a friend who had served in Korea and had made known his dislike for Koreans. Yet he took to Kelly and Susie as he would to any other children.

She also recalls her mother's shock when Joy was about to join the family. But it took no more than a picture of the infant to win over her affections.

Feelings Change

Similarly, Joy's then 17-year-old brother-to-be was reluctant about her because of what his friends would think. His second thoughts vanished shortly after holding his newly adopted sister.

With amusement, Mrs. Manley tells the story of a friend who thought Joy was their natural child. "After commenting on the similarity between Joy and Mr. Manley, this friend, not wanting to offend Mrs. Manley by omission, added that the baby had her eyes! There was no end to his embarrassment when he learned the truth, she related.

Of her four adopted children, Mrs. Manley believes that "those kids couldn't have been any more mine than if I had conceived them."

And of her eight children she says "we're a family and we're all God's children."

Cooperation Said Needed

. . . Even Extra Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Avoiding partisan rhetoric, President Nixon called Sunday for cooperation between Congress and the White House in "turning the blessings of peace into a better life for all."

In a taped radio address, Nixon said more than 50 major bills backed by the administration still await final congressional action.

While avoiding a repetition of his Wednesday news conference statement that this represented "a very disappointing record" for the Democratic-controlled Congress, Nixon did say:

"It means that Congress should join the executive in making up for the precious time lost this year in failing to act on those measures which vitally affect every American by going into extra session, if necessary, to complete the people's business before the year ends."

Nixon will send the Senate and House a lengthy special State of the Union message Monday expanding on his call for legislative action.

In his radio talk, taped here before he and Mrs. Nixon flew to Camp David, Md., Saturday for an overnight stay, Nixon said the questions at issue "are not ones of partisanship — of Republicans versus Democrats — and neither for the most part are they ones of the president versus Congress."

While acknowledging that "in some cases, there are real philosophical differences over how best to meet the needs that we face," the President said:

"The American tradition has always been that we argue these differences out, we compromise some, we settle others by a test of strength. But it is important that we act, that we decide, that we get on with the business of government — that we not let whatever may be our disagreements over the means of achieving these goals bar us from the achievement."

In ticking off what he termed the most urgent pending bills, Nixon emphasized energy legislation, maintenance of a defense "sufficient to safeguard us from attack and to provide an incentive" for mutual arms cuts, and a hold-down on spending so new programs do not mean higher prices and higher taxes.

Nixon also said Congress, the executive branch and the voters also share a common interest in building better communities, making full use of human resources and "combating the scourge of crime and drugs."

At no point did Nixon voice the veto threats that often have accompanied his exhortations to Congress to hold down appropriations.

However, he made what appeared to be a reference to legislation that would limit a president's war-making powers — a measure he would be expected to veto. He said:

"We must recognize that the American system requires both a strong Congress and a strong executive; and we therefore must not place limits on presidential powers that would jeopardize the capacity of the President, in this and in future administrations, to carry out his responsibilities to the American people."

In his speech, Nixon dealt at length first with the effort to achieve "full prosperity, without inflation and without war."

While claiming "substantial progress" in achieving that goal, Nixon said rising prices pose a major challenge.

"We still face the prospect of strong inflationary pressures as a result of overspending by the federal government," he said.

Bull Claims Nixon Got 8 To 10 Tapes

New York (UPI) — Stephen B. Bull, a special assistant to President Nixon, has told investigators of the Ervin committee he delivered to the President eight or 10 Watergate tape conversations on June 4, Time magazine reported Sunday.

Time, in its edition for this week, said it has learned that Bull loaded the tapes onto at least five playback machines and "he said that he carried the machines into the President's office in the executive office building, set them up for the President and left."

Time reported that Bull told the committee that Nixon held the tapes for 12 hours (from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.) and when Bull retrieved them all the tapes "had been fully unwound."

At his news conference last week, Nixon said he had listened to only two of the Watergate tapes.

New Beer Policy Attracts Applicants

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County's new policy on Sunday beer, which was formally passed by resolution last week, apparently is drawing a considerable number of applicants and the interest of several potential applicants.

Since the county first announced about three weeks ago its new policy of reviewing every application on an individual basis, four applications have been filed for Sunday off-sale beer.

The first public hearing has been set for next Tuesday on the application of LeRoy Wittmier for off-sale beer at the Shiloh Club near Bennet.

Set for Sept. 18 is the application of Peter G. and Dorothy J. Keim for off-sale beer at Walton and the application of LeLand L. Sittler for Sunday beer at 500 W. Van Dorn has not been set for public hearing yet but the board has received the sheriff's report on the application.

License Delayed

A fourth application, which will be presented the board Tuesday, has been made by Stan Grell for his proposed tavern at 84th and Highway 6. The board a few weeks ago approved a license for Grell for the proposed site but the license cannot be issued by the State Liquor Control Commission until after construction of the proposed structure is complete.

He said his business is a restaurant which serves beer and not a tavern, and he wants to keep it that way. He said he feels that by opening and serving beer on Sunday it would attract primarily a beer-drinking group rather than the family groups which Lee's has geared its business toward over the years.

Veteran Commissioner Kenneth Bourne said there has never been such a "rush" of applications for Sunday beer since he came on the board 15 years ago.

Several other taverns outside the city limits have indicated an interest in applying for Sunday beer.

T. Clement Gaughan, owner of the Fireside Inn on W. Van Dorn, said that if most of the other taverns go to Sunday beer "it looks like we'll just about have to."

Wait And See

However, he said he did not intend to seek Sunday beer until he sees what happens.

Robert Jordan, owner of the Outpost at 2834 Folsom, said Friday that he had picked up application forms and intended to file for Sunday off-sale beer at his tavern, for which he holds a bottle club license and an off-sale beer license.

Others reportedly have indicated an interest in seeking Sunday beer.

However, Paul Wilcoxon Jr., owner of Lee's Restaurant, said he had given the Sunday beer possibility considerable thought but does not plan to apply.

New Commissioner Jan Gauger, who initiated the board's establishment of the new policy, had said she felt the board's former policy was "arbitrary."

The court held in a suit brought by Leland L. Sittler that the board's action in denying his Sunday beer request in 1972 was not arbitrary because it appeared that the county policy was to attempt to cooperate in enforcing the law in the city which does not allow beer sales on Sunday.

The county's newly adopted policy states the county board will accept and review all applications for liquor and beer licenses.

The county board will refer all applications to the sheriff's office, after which a public hearing will be set, and the board will make a decision on the basis of need for additional outlets and public sentiment.

Cost Of Postal Ads To Hit $19 Million?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Postal Service could spend about $19 million on advertising during the fiscal year that ends next June 30, Rep. Charles Thone, R-Neb., said Sunday.

"Postal Service advertising, its $3.2-million information program and its headquarters move from a building that was paid for to the swankiest new office complex in Washington are some of the reasons why second- and third-class

Blaze In Hotel Fatal To Four

Bath, Maine (AP) — Fire swept a three-story wooden hotel that served as a boarding house for young students on Sunday, killing two teenagers and two adults. Ten persons were injured, fire officials said.

The victims were identified as John E. Smith, 45, of Seattle, Wash., and three Bath residents, Hugh MacDonald Jr., 26; William Atkins, about 18, and Coleen Henderson, about 18.

Three of the dead were found on the top floor and one on the first floor of the 30-room Hotel Sedgwick, which is located in the center of this shipbuilding community.

postage rates just went up and letter postage will soon go from eight to 10 cents," Thone said.

The Postal Service will buy an additional $15.3 million worth of national advertising this fiscal year if campaigns in seven cities are successful, he added.

The campaigns are divided into plugs for money orders, for "express mail" sold on a contract basis to high-volume mailers and for commemorative and other special stamps, he said.

"Only money orders lends itself to mass advertising," Thone said in a statement. "I think the Postal Service should devote its attention to moving the mail and let private-enterprise financial institutions provide ways to convert money."

Publicity would stimulate stamp collectors and business mailers can be told through the mail of better deals, he said. Thone said the Postal Service's advertising budget "looks as though too much is going for manpower costs and too little for buying advertising."

He said the Postal Service spent in the last two years about $1.5 million "on an advertising program called 'Serving America,' which was a campaign to tell the public how good its mail service is."

Algiers — A major portion of the underdeveloped world closed a five-day conference in Algiers with a warning to the big powers not to make decisions without consulting it, with a condemnation of Israel, but without agreement on relations between the poor countries and the two "superpowers." The warning was issued by President Houari Boumedienne of Algeria as he closed the fourth conference of nonaligned nations — 76 countries representing the poorer southern half of the globe.

Watergate Hearings To Be Limited

Washington — The Senate Watergate committee, apparently frustrated in its cross-country search for fresh revelations about 1972 presidential campaign sabotage, intends to abbreviate its public hearings when they resume later this month. But a majority of the seven-member committee has decided against splitting the panel into two subcommittees and is opposed to a suggested ban on television coverage of the hearings.

Agnew's Future
Seen As Dimmer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican party leaders meeting for the first time since the Watergate scandal erupted see a sharp drop in Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's presidential prospects and an upsurge of interest in Sen. Howard Baker, Gov. Ronald Reagan and former Treasury Secretary John Connally.

To a lesser extent, according to an Associated Press survey of GOP National Committee members and state chairmen, gains also were registered for Sen. Charles Percy, and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The GOP leaders were polled as Republican state chairmen Sunday opened a three-day meeting here. The Republican National Committee meets Monday for the first time since President Nixon's inaugural in January and a new party reform group convenes Tuesday.

More than half of the 70 GOP officials from 37 states responding to the AP survey said the disclosure that Agnew faces possible criminal charges in Maryland has hurt his 1976 presidential chances.

Some thought Agnew could come out "smelling like a rose," as Committeeman Creighton Holden of Michigan put it. But others felt his chances would be hurt, regardless of the outcome.

Committeewoman Orriette Sinclair of Idaho said the investigation will damage Agnew "even if the charges are never proved."

Baker, the 47-year-old Tennessee senator who is the ranking GOP member of the Senate Watergate Committee, was clearly the biggest gainer because of Watergate, according to the survey. Twenty members said he had been helped. Only two thought his role had damaged him.

"There's no question that Baker has been helped tremendously," said Louisiana Republican chairman James Boyce. "And he's been a popular figure in Republican circles for some time."

Committeewoman Mary E. Boatwright of Connecticut said Baker "has pulled far ahead of everyone else because of this Watergate thing." But Colorado GOP Chairman Dwight Hamilton said he "looks a little bit at this point like a person trying to push his own political future, rather than being an impartial judge."

Eleven members each said that Reagan and Connally had been helped.

Some tied Reagan's rise directly to Agnew's decline, while two said Connally might be injured by his close association with President Nixon.

However, Kentucky GOP chairman Charles Coy said "I think Connally will be the greatest beneficiary," adding that Nixon's reference to the former Texas governor at last week's news conference "didn't hurt him."

Referring to Connally's conversion from the Democratic party last Spring at the height of the Watergate revelations, Montana GOP chairman Kenneth Neill said "it will help Connally because he boarded the ship during a difficult time for the party."

Sakharov Tells Of His Agonies

Moscow — The agonies of Andrei D. Italy Shaken By Cholera Outbreak

Rome — The cholera epidemic in southern Italy has traumatized the entire nation. The outbreak with, so far, 800 certain or suspected cases and at least 23 dead, has brutally shown up neglect, decay and misery behind a picturesque facade.

Payments Balances Reported Up

Washington — The boom in the industrialized countries, soaring commodity prices and heavy inflows of private capital combined to give the developing countries their best payments balances on record in 1972 and early 1973, the International Monetary Fund reported.

Nixon Makes Radio Appeal

Washington — President Nixon appealed to the American people to help him resist the encroachments of Congress on the powers of the presidency in a radio address on his national legislative goals. The address preceded a long State of the Union message that Nixon will send to Congress Monday. (More on Page 1.)

Soviets Warned About Harassment

Washington — The National Academy of Sciences in Washington warned Soviet authorities that the arrest or further harassment of Andrei D. Sakharov, the Soviet physicist, could lead to a curtailment of American scientific cooperation with the Soviet Union. At the same time, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which deals with trade legislation, said he would oppose liberalization of trade with the Russians "if the price is to be paid in the martyrdom" of political dissidents such as Sakharov and Aleksandr I. Solzhenitsyn, the novelist.

Nixon Associate Under Investigation

Washington — Arnholt Smith, the California multimillionaire who has been one of President Nixon's closest personal and political associates for more than 25 years, is now the subject of intense scrutiny by federal investigators, who have become increasingly interested in Smith's dealings with organized crime figures.

Health Affairs In 'Kind Of Chaos'

Washington — Dr. Jesse L. Steinfeld, President Nixon's former surgeon general, said in an interview that the administration has been dragging its feet in implementing medical programs needed by the country and that federal health affairs are in "a kind of chaos." He said efforts to reform and revitalize federal health efforts had had little substance during his three years as surgeon general, due to a lack of interest, leadership and money.

Astronauts
Pick Work
Over Sleep

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Skylab 2 astronauts chose work over rest Sunday, performing hours of experiments.

Alan L. Bean, Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma had the option of working or resting in their 44th day in space, and they chose to work, giving up even the chance to sleep late.

Bean was up about 6:30 a.m. EDT, operating a solar telescope, and the other two crewmen went to work about an hour later.

"This is what the crew requested," said a space official.

The astronauts took pictures of Italy, Germany and several islands. As the space station passed over a dot of land in the middle of the Atlantic, Lousma told mission control: "We've got our photos of the Ascension Island. It looks like a rather remote outpost down there in the ocean."

Cloudy weather forced cancellation of one of two earth resources photo passes planned for the crew Sunday, and the astronauts performed other experiments instead.

The highlight of the day was the chance to take showers.

Because of a limited water supply and a packed schedule, the astronauts get to shower only once a week. They shower in an enclosed cylinder using less than one gallon of water each. After each shower, the astronauts have to vacuum up the water which floats in weightlessness.

Massive Search Mounted Off Long Island Resort

EAST HAMPTON, N.Y. (AP)

— A massive air-sea-land search was mounted Sunday for David Rumbough, 25, son of two of America's wealthiest families.

United in the search were his divorced parents, actress Dina Merrill and industrialist Stanley Rumbough. Miss Merrill is a daughter of Mrs. Merriwether Post, one of the world's richest women, often called queen of American society.

Rumbough disappeared Saturday from a 25-foot boat, capable of 70 miles an hour, while cruising in Gardiner's Bay near this fashionable Long Island resort.

His companion, Jonathan Keith, 21, was rescued and described as in satisfactory condition at Southampton hospital.

Wreckage Of Aircraft
Discovered In Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)

— Wreckage from a missing jet cargo plane was found Sunday on a mountainside near Cold Bay, Alaska, the Rescue Coordination Center at Elmendorf Air Force Base reported.

A spokesman said all six persons aboard died in the crash. Officials said the plane was spotted by a volunteer search aircraft at the 3,500-foot level on Mt. Dutton, 15 miles east of Cold Bay.

A body removal team was being sent to the area, a rescue center spokesman said.

The spokesman said the wreckage sighting was confirmed by a Coast Guard helicopter which set down near the crash site.

The World Airways DC8 jet was chartered by the Air Force to carry a load of aircraft tires, a Coast Guard spokesman said. It was en route from Travis Air Force Base, Calif., to Yokota, Japan, when it disappeared Saturday while trying to land for refueling at Cold Bay, near the western tip of the Alaskan Peninsula.

He is the son of Norman C. Keith, president of the Commonwealth Oil Refining Co., New York.

Coast Guard patrol boats, East Hampton police vessels and U.S. Army Reserve helicopters scoured the sea. Land units concentrated on the area from Napeague Harbor to Montauk Point along Block Island Sound.

"But I'm afraid it's too late now," said the present Mrs. Rumbough. "Dina and Stanley are down at the water hunting and hoping."

Keith was pulled from the water by Charlton Chatfield, 26, who said he and several other persons noticed Rumbough's boat going in circles off Gardiner's Island.

"We got into a motor boat," he said, "and when we reached it, it was still going in circles. No one was in it. We boarded the boat, turned off the engine, anchored it and put up a marker. Then we searched and saw one man floating. He was clutching a sea cushion. We pulled him aboard. He was conscious and told us another man was missing. We hunted until there was no more gas, then we got him ashore and took him to Southampton hospital."

Rumbough, 53, heads or is a director of numerous companies with interests that include electronics, perfumes, shipping and flour milling.

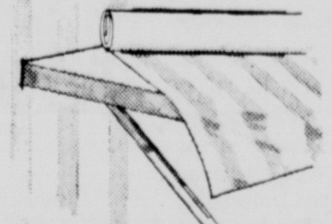

Miss Merrill's father was the late Edward F. Hutton, one of America's most prominent brokers.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

We have to be the most survey-minded bunch of people ever to inhabit the earth. An AP columnist included in his remark recently a report that if you go to a zoo, the chances are you are smarter than someone who doesn't.

Also, according to a study of the subject, you probably earn more money and have a higher education if you visit the zoo. Those, of course, are only averages and it will do you no real good to visit the zoo if you are a little on the dull side or lack sufficient income.

You see, the theory would be that you have the brains and the money first, then visit the zoo, not the other way around. Which brings up the question of just why this might be so. The question assumes, of course, that you want to believe the findings of the study.

And that, in turn, raises another long-standing question. If people who visit a zoo are smarter than those who don't, what about the inhabitants of the zoo? Are they smarter than the visitors?

The inhabitants of the zoo are the birds and animals that live in the place. A great deal of humor has been based on the insinuation that the roles we play ought to be reversed, that we ought to be in an impoundment or behind a cage while those now there should be outside.

Maybe so, if you want to buy one possible explanation for the findings of the study. Maybe those with more smarts and more money more frequently go to the zoo to get away from it all, to find a diversion from the problems they face in life.

A zoo, after all, is a place of relative tranquility. We say "relative" because the world of nature is not nearly as tranquil as we are often led to believe. Those who seek to return to nature, in fact, are asking for a dog-eat-dog existence.

The furry rabbit sitting under the branches of a low-slung tree may look like the picture of contentment but may fall victim the next moment to the fox or some other predator. All throughout nature, in both the plant and animal worlds, it is survival of the fittest.

The zoo appears to be a tranquil place simply because man makes it that way. Man prevents the birds and animals from engaging in their instinctively violent ways.

It is probably true, however, that the inhabitants of the zoo do not have much to worry about, if they even have the capacity for worry. They can and do know fear but once the threat is past, they do not seem to stew about its returning.

Rather, the bird threatened by a cat will take rapid and sometimes noisy flight but once it escapes the clutches of the cat, it is right back to its cheerful self.

Or, do the smarter and richer people more often take in the zoo to feed their ego? If you want to feel superior, a zoo ought to do it for you as you should be able to imagine yourself as a little ways ahead of the monkeys, goats, cats and other zoo residents.

The nicest thing you could probably say is that smarter, richer people more often visit the zoo because they are more likely to realize the rewards and benefits of such a place — the relaxation it provides, the educational purpose it can serve and the ecological impact it can have.

But again, we are talking about averages and they are dangerous things to work with. We remember the member of the Candian parliament who, in the course of a debate, made the remark that with seasonal adjustments, you could eliminate winter from the nation.

Journalism In Africa Knows Little Freedom

LONDON — The immediate impression a visitor receives upon reading any African newspaper is that it is either a government propaganda organ or has agreed to censor itself. Peter Enahoro, a former editor of Nigeria's Daily Times, goes so far as to say that African newspapers enjoy less freedom today than in colonial times.

Bill McAteer, director of the University of Nairobi School of Journalism, told this correspondent during a recent visit that African governments do not accept the concept of an independent press. In countries like Ethiopia, Somalia, the Sudan and Uganda, newspapers are viewed as vehicles for uniting the nation. A Kenyan called Johnstone Kamau started a monthly paper in 1930. Today, as President Jomo Kenyatta, he is contemptuous of his former profession.

Only a few African countries practice direct censorship. Instead, newspapers that offend the government are summarily shut down and correspondents who criticize too sharply are clapped in jail or expelled.

The first non-European newspapers in West Africa were founded in Sierra Leone by freed slaves returning from America. Although these were impoverished and primitive journals, they were the acknowledged torch-bearers of early African nationalism. Even under British colonial rule, the native press retained a certain amount of bite.

Today, Africa has fewer newspapers and magazines per capita than does any other continent. In 1964 a United Nations survey counted 220 dailies. By 1970 the number had fallen to 179, and government-ordered closures have since reduced the total still further. Several African countries have no daily newspapers at all.

Africa's military regimes sometimes resort to draconian measures to fetter the press. In Uganda, Gen. Idi Amin's soldiers handcuffed the editor of a Catholic newspaper to the steering wheel of his car and then set the vehicle afire. And Malawi's President Kamuzu Banda recently told a public gathering: "I hold journalists in contempt."

"In Africa the journalist always has one foot in jail," says Horst Peters, the African specialist for Quick magazine. One newspaper editor was arrested and detained for accurately reporting that his country's first lady had given birth to a son. The predictable result of such harassment is that Africa's newspapers carry little domestic news and few American or European papers maintain correspondents on the continent.

Not that the position of the press in white-controlled Rhodesia, Angola, Mozambique and South Africa is any better. Free-lance journalist Peter Niesewand was jailed and then departed from Rhodesia for reporting on revolutionary activities in neighboring Mozambique. And Dr. Connie Mulder, South Africa's Interior Minister, says he would be "the last man to tamper with freedom of the press, but . . ."

Party-Switching A Trend?

State Sen. Gary Anderson of Axtell says he will make up his mind within the next two weeks about switching his political affiliation from Republican to Democrat. If the freshman lawmaker goes ahead with the change, he will be the sixth member of the Legislature to do so in the past year and a half.

And it would raise the number of registered Democrats in the nonpartisan Unicameral to 17 and reduce the Republican count to 31, leaving Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha listed as the only independent.

There are any number of reasons governing each individual senator's decision to change. For example, on the surface at least, Senators Terry Carpenter and John DeCamp left the GOP in order to run for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

There are underlying factors, however, general as they may be.

First, a highly partisan Gov. Exon has made some state senators feel more comfortable as Democrats. We imagine he has encouraged, if not directly influenced, a couple of changes.

Hand in hand with that, and probably a more important factor, is that the younger senators, especially, who have switched party affiliation can see a greater future in the Democratic Party because their rise in the Republican Party has been or could be blocked by the established pecking order dictated by long-time GOP influences at the top.

The current spate of party-switching could be of long-term benefit to the GOP if the party leadership structure is sufficiently impressed enough to relax its grip and let the invigorating winds of change sweep through. The Republican Party in Nebraska is still on top at present but there can only be trouble ahead if office-holding members begin to desert.

Meanwhile, the Democrats can only be helped by the political conversions. At the state level it's a healthy situation when the minority party is strengthened in a nominally non-partisan legislature which is de jure partisan nevertheless.

Daily Telecasting A Plus

One of the best services offered the public by the Nebraska Educational Television Network is its daily taping of activity on the floor of the Unicameral. A condensed, well-edited, 30-minute program featuring the highlights of the senatorial workday is broadcast each evening the Legislature is in session, and the phone calls and correspondence received by the network reflects a growing public acceptance of the programming.

For the Nebraskan who wants to get a taste of the day-to-day workings of the Legislature — the color or the lack of it, depending on the prevailing mood — the ETV broadcasts fulfill a special function.

The immediacy of the nightly broadcasting of the same day's activity is important, as is the continuity offered by the non-stop coverage.

The Legislature's executive board last week decided that the daily televising by the ETV network should continue next year. The only opposition to it came from Omaha Sen. Eugene Mahoney, who declared that the televising "delays the session." But other members of the board agreed with Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora, who acknowledged a favorable response to the programs from his district.

We imagine that most senators, in addition to recognizing the educational value in the program, really don't mind playing their trade before the cameras. Exposure to the public generally helps more than it hurts.

The Nebraska Educational Television Network is to be commended for producing an excellent program and the Legislature's executive board likewise commended for renewing the series for another session. Hopefully the full Legislature won't reverse that decision.

Amnesty, Dissent, Income

NEW YORK — Some new evidence on familiar questions:

On Sept. 9, 1971, the four-day uprising at Attica prison began. The 15 minutes of state police shotgun and rifle fire that ended it on Sept. 13 took 39 lives, including those of nine corrections workers, and wounded more than 80 others.

The assault took place because of the failure of efforts to negotiate a settlement between inmates and the state. Those efforts foundered primarily on the insistence of the inmates on criminal amnesty for any violations of law that had occurred in the uprising, and the refusal of the state to grant such criminal amnesty. Even if he had the power to do so, Governor Rockefeller said, granting amnesty "would undermine the very essence of our society — the fair and impartial application of the law."

In Indiana this week, inmates seized three cellblocks at the Michigan City state prison, held three guards hostage, and — like their predecessors at Attica — demanded improved conditions. These included better food and medical care, changes in prison personnel and policies, and an ombudsman to represent them.

The Indiana prisoners also demanded criminal amnesty for the uprising. Warden J. Russell Lash and Gov. Otis R. Bowen not only promised to move ahead on the reform demands but Bowen also ordered the amnesty granted. As a result, the inmates gave up the hostages unharmed state authorities resumed control of the cellblocks, and no one lost his life.

There were two major differences in the Attica and Michigan City uprisings. At Attica, William Quinn, a guard, had been killed in the prison takeover, so that a capital charge was involved; at Michigan City, there does not appear to have been the kind of major property damage, resulting from fires and rioting, suffered at Attica.

Even so, Bowen's actions seem at this distance to have upheld "the very essence of our society" rather more nearly than 39 deaths did at Attica; as for the equal application of the law, none of the troopers and corrections officers who took part in the indiscriminate gunfire at Attica have as yet been indicted, suspended or reprimanded for excessive use of force.

Down in Florida, meanwhile, the so-called Gainesville Eight were acquitted of conspiring to disrupt the 1972 Republican national convention with automatic weapons, homemade bombs and crossbows. This charge had never seemed plausible to anyone who saw the ragtag, rather pathetic bands of Vietnam veterans against the war stragglers around Miami Beach last summer; but the government pressed ahead.

On trial, the group's fearsome weapons turned out to be 55 boxes of wrist rocket sling shots; the government's case, it developed, rested on informers, whose lurid evidence was so irrelevant and unsupported that the jury acquitted the Eight without discussion of the case. The Gainesville Eight thus took its place with the Chicago Seven, the Camden 28, the Berrigan group at Harrisburg and other instances in which the government had sought to prove a non-existent conspiracy against the national security, and had even tried through its infiltrators to help the "conspirators" break the laws under which it was hoped to try to convict them.

But, said Judge W. E. Arnov repeatedly, "The government is not on trial here." In one sense, the government was even the victor. It suffered no penalty for the shoddiness of its case and the FBI and the prosecution were paid for by the taxpayers; the defense was put through what one defendant called "14 months of hell," left in debt for about $40,000 of its $150,000 defense costs and made an object lesson to other dissenting groups that the government will stoop to almost anything to try to put them in jail.

The new evidence about old controversies that was in-

By BOB GUENTHER

For better or worse, the embroglio over Watergate has underscored the fact that the news media influence as well as reflect events.

Yet no institution wielding such clout and claiming to carry the banner of public interest is more poorly understood than the news media.

The reason behind this is that the news media have been unwilling to bare their internal functioning in the same manner they expect from public bodies. Though privately owned, the media should be no more exempt from disclosing their vested interests to the public than the candidate who must report all contributions and expenditures incurred in a campaign.

The media have fostered covertly, if not overtly, this aura of mystery evident in everything from the handling of a simple correction of a fact stated in a news story to lofty pleadings before legislatures for the right to protect the identity of informants.

Self-criticism, until the recent advent of journalism reviews, has been noticeably absent. And unfortunately those attempts to be the conscience of the media, the reviews, are restricted in their scope chiefly to the larger metropolitan areas.

Who then fills the void in Nebraska created by the need for someone to "police the policeman?"

Right now, nobody. The press association publications, the press clubs and various journalistic societies have largely been too busy slapping each other's back to notice where they are short-changing the public.

Regrets About Truman

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has told friends he is sorry for the way he treated President Harry Truman back in late 1940s.

The shoe was on the other foot in those days. Nixon was the investigating congressman demanding White House files. He used malignant innuendo to suggest that Truman was soft on communism.

"The only way to save America," thundered young Nixon, "is to get rid of Trumanism . . . or whatever ism with which you choose to tag the whole sorry mess."

Now that Nixon is on the receiving end of congressional attacks, he has become a secret admirer of the gritty Truman. In private conversation, the President has praised Truman's "guts."

More and more, Nixon feels a kinship with the late Truman. Both were tough campaigners and outspoken partisans. Both were stubbornly loyal to their friends. Both once failed in a business and both played the piano.

It is painful for Nixon to admit a mistake, his friends acknowledge. But sometimes he wishes Harry Truman were still alive so he could apologize to him for the excesses of the 1940s.

One of America's most esteemed labor leaders is identified in Justice Department documents as the longtime friend of a major figure in world narcotics traffic to the United States.

The union official is Irving J. Brown, justly famed as a bulwark of free unionism against government-run communist "union." As AFL-CIO head in Europe and Africa, the 61-year-old Brown has labored for decades to better the life of oppressed workers.

Yet, in what seems like almost another life, he has befriended and housed France's notorious Maurice "Broken Head" Castellani and occasionally enters the twilight circle of other shadowy figures who operate the heroin pipeline to America.

The 49-year-old Castellani is identified in a classified Justice Department document as one of "the triumvirate leadership of the 'Trois Canards' ('Three Ducks'), an underworld organization involved in numerous illicit financial enterprises, not the least of which is narcotics."

Castellani's charm and dapper appearance have gained him an entree to the presidential palace in Italy, the Justice narcotics agents have reported. His friends say a beating by the Gestapo for trying to transport Jews to freedom got him the nickname "Broken Head."

And his skill in smuggling narcotics has earned him eight single-spaced pages with addenda in a secret Justice Department file headed: "GF: Maurice Castellani."

Larded through this file are references to Brown, beginning with trans-Atlantic telephone calls between the two men almost a decade ago. When in New York, Castellani seldom had to look for hotels. As the report put it, "Brown . . . made (his) apartment available to Castellani whenever Castellani was in New York City."

Working from the apartment, newsmen voted for Sen. George McGovern, while 28.6% voted for President Richard Nixon.

A majority said that the newspaper is the most accurate arm of the press, but this can be accounted for by the fact that ten of the 21 respondents work for newspapers.

Who do they feel responsible to in reporting the news? Three out of every four said their primary obligation is to the general public, not the opinion leaders. They indicated they felt the least responsibility to government officials and their employers.

Other responses included:

—two-thirds described their relationship with governors as a contest to secure as much information as possible.

—85% admitted that reporters are "used" by public officials on occasion.

—71% said disagreements with officials over government policy does not influence their reporting.

—two-thirds agreed that it is the job of the newsman to go beyond solely reporting the straight facts and to explain, interpret and give significance to events.

—85% said the most important quality in a news story is accuracy.

—over half said that honesty and integrity are the most important qualities for a journalist to possess. Intelligence ranked Number Two. At the bottom of the list of necessities were a good personality and a college background in journalism.

—76% said they did not feel constrained by their employer in the kind of stories they wrote.

Castellani met with Joseph Zurita, a Tangiers-Casablanca-based smuggler, or dropped in on his old pal, Francois Scaglia, an unlucky narcotics bigwig then doing time in New York's infamous Attica State Prison. The Justice report says Castellani was bringing "substantial amounts of money" for the jailed Scaglia.

Gradually, the friendship of the AFL-CIO's top European man with the narcotics magnate began to worry federal "nars." They visited Brown and reported he "was receptive and readily answered questions (but) Brown did not provide any significant information . . ."

However, the labor officials agreed to permit the federal sleuths to bug his apartment. The Justice report notes gloomily that "no audible tapes were obtained."

Despite the agents' warning that Castellani was deep in narcotics, the trusting Brown let the smuggler keep a key to his apartment. The agents kept a weather eye on the flat.

Finding Castellani there one day, they popped in unexpectedly to interview him. The suave Castellani surprised them by agreeing "tentatively to cooperate." Yet this, too, turned into a dry hole.

Meanwhile, fearful that Brown's United Nations affiliation through the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions would be used by him as "a possible smuggling route," the agents began to "monitor" him. Though U.S. Customs helped in the probe, Justice reported "negative results."

In ensuing years, Brown and Castellani have met frequently, most recently three months ago over dinner with several other friends. Brown has also maintained his social relationship with Zurita, but has not seen him for about a year.

When we reached Brown by telephone in Paris, he charged the Justice Department report was "guilt by association." But in a long trans-Atlantic talk, he went through it with us point by point.

The agents themselves had asked him not to alert Castellani by breaking off their friendship, he insisted. He later conceded he had made no report to the "nars" since the late '60s.

In any case, he said, they had never proved to his satisfaction that Castellani was in narcotics and Castellani had denied it to him. Yet he admitted under questioning that he knew Castellani was in New York to see the jailed drug trafficker Scaglia. "A lot of people have friends in jail," he explained.

Poll: Watergate Panel Members' Ratings Up

By LOUIS HARRIS
As the second phase of the Senate Watergate hearings resume, public approval of individual members of the committee, almost without exception, is on the rise. The committee chairman, Senator Sam Ervin of North Carolina, leads the way with a positive rating of 63-22% "in the way he has handled himself in the questioning of witnesses."

the ratings is Republican Senator Howard Baker of Tennessee, who emerges with 61-16% on the positive side. Following Baker in public approval is Hawaiian Senator Daniel Inouye, with a 56-17% positive standing.

Between Aug. 18 and 24, a cross section of 1,546 adults were asked in person across the nation:

RATINGS OF WATERGATE COMMITTEE MEMBERS
	Good	Only fair	Not Excellent
Sen. Sam Ervin	63	22	15
Sen. Howard Baker	61	16	23
Sen. Daniel Inouye	56	17	27
Sen. Lowell Weicker	45	18	37
Sen. Edward Gurney	43	14	43
Sen. Herman Talmadge	43	19	38
Sen. Joseph Montoya	41	22	37
Sen. Sam Nunn	40	23	37
Sen. Frank Lautenberg	39	17	44
Sen. Fred Thompson	39	17	44
Sen. James Buckley	39	17	44
Sen. James Buckley	39	17	44
Sen. James Buckley	39	17	44

Although the number of people who view each committee member in a negative light (only fair-poor) has risen in every case, in almost every case the committee member's positive rating (pretty good-excellent) has gone up even more. This pattern holds for Senators Baker, Inouye, Weicker, Gurney, Talmadge, and Montoya.

The lone exceptions are Senator Ervin, the committee chairman, and Samuel Dash, the majority counsel. Criticism of Ervin has risen by six points, while praise for him has gone up only one point. In the case of Dash, he has improved his positive rating by two points, but these gains are cancelled out by a two-point rise on the negative side of the ledger. Both Ervin and Dash have been most insistent on pressing forward with the inquiry into campaign dirty tricks and on televising the proceedings.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Monday

Leo can be magnanimous and stubborn. Leo is the sign of love and the theater. Leo can fall prey to jealousy and often attracts envy in others. Leo harmonizes with Libra, Gemini, Sagittarius and Aries. Leo and Aquarius are opposite signs but drawn to each other. Leo should exercise caution in dealings with Taurus and Scorpio.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Some of your desires will be fulfilled. Be careful about what you ask for because you are likely to get it. Key now is mature judgment. Study fine print. Read between the lines. Be aware of subtle nuances.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Communicate with those in authority. Get ideas across to individuals who can put them in motion. Accept civic responsibility. Strive to elevate standing in community. Gemini, Virgo person could figure prominently.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Good lunar aspect highlights stimulation of learning process. You also have better communications with family. One who wants something will turn on the charm. Be reasonable. Give without being extravagant. You will be happier through intelligent compromise.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Finances of mate, partner may be of some concern. Means strive to reach understanding based on facts, not wishful thinking. Prices, Virgo individuals could play roles. Perceive. Find out what costs how much and how you can cut corners without affecting quality.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Lie low. Conserve assets. Develop contact, relationship with one who pulls strings.

OPERATION LIFESAVER/RAILROADS OF NEBRASKA COOPERATING WITH THE NEBRASKA HIGHWAY SAFETY PROGRAM

Football Fact Class To Help Female Fans

By LINDA OLIG
Star Staff Writer

Come Sept. 19, a classroom at East High School will take on all the trappings of a locker room.

There, one will find an ample supply of filmstrips, chalk boards, mimographed diagrams and magnetic playboards.

All that will be missing will be the big, brawny men who engage in the American sport called "football."

In their place will be females who will spend two hours each week discussing the ins and outs of that sport.

The eight-week course, "Football Facts For Females," was designed "for women who have expressed an interest in knowing more about football when they go to Nebraska games or watch pro games." It is being offered through the Southeastern Community College.

Jim Hulse, principal of the East Educational Complex, will serve as the "head coach," or instructor.

The course is a revival of a similar series of lessons on the intricacies of the game which was taught by former Husker head coach, Bob Devaney, and his crew in the mid-sixties.

"I think Devaney and his group were among the first in the country to start such a course," Hulse said, noting that such classes have been catching on like wildfire across the nation as more and more housewives find their husbands turning into habitual armchair quarterbacks from the first kickoff of the season to the final gun of the Super Bowl game — a full five months out of the year.

"We basically will cover football terminology and the offensive and defensive formations," Hulse said.

His game plan calls for going over the previous week's Cornhusker game films, having his class pick out and review formations and plays.

"Then we will discuss the upcoming game," he said. Particular emphasis will be placed upon "what to watch for and people to look for."

Just as the Huskers vary their game plans for each new opponent, Hulse hopes to vary his classroom-locker room presentations.

"We hope to involve the (Husker) coaches as guest speakers and have them talk about their specialties," he said.

"Since the only way to really learn about football is by asking questions," a question-and-answer period will be a major part of each class meeting, the instructor said.

Senior Citizens Sound Off

DEAR ABBY: You asked senior citizens what their biggest problems were. Money? Health? Loneliness? Boredom?

I can't speak for the men, but I can tell you that the biggest problems most women have are as follows:

When husbands retire they follow the wife around all day remarking on how she does the housework, cooking, etc. and none of it is complimentary.

Also, he never lets his wife go anywhere alone. He has to tag along because his own interest in sex is waning, and he starts accusing her of seeing other men. In other words, they get jealous because they can't perform as well themselves.

Men retire, but we middle-class wives continue to do our regular housework because of our limited income, which has been worsened by inflation.

Doctors who see senior citizens will confirm the above, for which there is no solution at the present time. But with women's liberation, maybe the future will be better for coming generations.

I can't sign my name because all phone calls and mail are monitored here, and I'll have to carry this around in my purse.

until I can sneak it into a mailbox.

TRAPPED IN FORT MEYERS

DEAR ABBY: Yes, I have a problem. How does a senior citizen find a place to live? Had my name in for one project for two years, and the building started to sink. Applied to get into another and was told they were filled, and had a waiting list of 500. Something should be done about housing for us. I'm not ready for a nursing home yet.

EASTERNER

DEAR ABBY: I'm 75, and a widower. I made my first trip to a foreign country at age 70. At 71, I started making my own sourdough bread, and now I can't stand bakery bread. At 73, I started making my own jellies and jams. I enjoy life because I keep active.

I've sent for a copy of the LIVING WILL, thanks to you. I wish to live, but I am not interested in existing.

F. E. W., KENT, WASH.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a widow in my sixties, nice figure, and I'm told I'm attractive. My problem is finding a GOOD man. They either drink too much and want sex, or they're too old. One older man wanted to marry me. He said: "You buy the house Honey, and I'll cut the grass." He could hardly walk two blocks, so I'm wondering how he could cut the grass.

WINTER PARK, FLORIDA

DEAR ABBY: We are both 77

years old, and have been married 53 years. First we liked each other, then we loved each other, and now we adore each other. Our problem? We would like to die together.

HARTWIG AND HELEN IN BERKELEY

DEAR ABBY: I'm 74, wear eyeglasses, false teeth, a hearing aid, and I walk with a cane. But I'm happy because I'm a born-again Christian.

I can smell the fragrance of my flowers, and feel the softness of my cat, and I can eat anything

I can afford to buy.

I'm on old age pension and can't afford a phone or even a newspaper but I can avail myself of my neighbor's in both cases. I've always been poor, so it's no hardship. Besides, I'll have a mansion by and by.

GLADYS IN, CHILLICOTHE, OHIO

DEAR READERS: If you didn't like this column, you won't like tomorrow's either. It's more from our wonderful senior citizens who wrote in by the thousands! ABBY

Changing Times

Mark Enright knows times have changed.

As a 6-9 high school standout for Cedar Rapids Kennedy the past two years, he has been known as the driving force behind that Iowa school's rise to basketball dominance in the Hawkeye state. But now he joins a talented group of other high school standouts vying for positions on coach Joe Cipriano's Nebraska basketball squad.

"I know things will change here," he laughed when asked if he will be the "key" to this year's squad. "We've got a pretty good squad and I'll just be hoping I get to play and make a contribution."

new school.

As a junior he helped the Cedar Rapids school to a 20-5 record and the Iowa State AA Championship. Last season, his team finished at 23-4 with a thirdplace finish in the state tourney after falling, 70-69 to Dubuque Wahlert in the semifinals.

"I've really enjoyed playing basketball the past two years," he said. "This past year, I was expected to be a leader and I don't think I let anyone down. When someone counts on me, I don't want to let them down."

Numerous Offers

With between 140 and 150 colleges bidding for his services, Enright said he finally narrowed his decision to Nebraska, Kansas State, Iowa, Minnesota and Utah. But what finally convinced him to attend Nebraska was a combination of three things.

"I knew Nebraska would have so many good players and while we may not go undefeated or anything like that, I knew we'd have a good team if everything pans out," he said. "And another thing was that the coaches seemed like they were a little more honest than some of the others."

He also cited Nebraska's School of Journalism as another element which swung his verdict to Lincoln.

"I wanted to go into journalism and I knew they had a good school here," he said. "I want to come out of college with a degree — not only to play basketball — and I also wanted to get kind of away from home. If I had gone to Iowa (located in nearby Iowa City), that would only be like high school."

Although Enright termed winning the Iowa state title as a thrill, he said he was more elated about being chosen as a member of the United States basketball team that played in the Albert Schweitzer Games in April in Germany. Composed of outstanding high school basketball players from this country the Americans met European teams.

"We won all seven of our regular games and three exhibition games," he relates. "I didn't start, but I did get to play a lot and it was great over there."

But now Enright, who amassed one of the finest records in Iowa prep history, will get a chance to help the Huskers. He is yet another link in what promises to be an interesting four years in NU basketball annals.

UCLA Player Released

A UCLA football player who was hospitalized Saturday night after he collapsed while boarding a plane at Lincoln's Municipal Airport was released Sunday morning, according to a hospital spokesman.

Bill Sandifer, 20, was held overnight at Lincoln General Hospital after apparently passing out while boarding a plane.

A team doctor said Sandifer apparently suffered "a mild cerebral concussion" when he was hit on the head during the UCLA-Nebraska football game about an hour before he collapsed at the airport.

MEET THE BIG 8 COACHES — KANSAS' DON FAMBROUGH...

Bypassed Pro Football For Coaching Career

(Fifth of a Series)
Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Don Fambrough, starting his third season as head football coach at Kansas, made his college coaching debut earlier than he had anticipated.

"In 1948, just after I had completed my playing career at Kansas," Fambrough recalls, "I was talking with San Francisco about a professional contract. We had come to agreement on salary but I told them I wanted one more day to visit J. V. Sikes, then coach at Kansas."

"When I returned to Lawrence, J. V. Sikes told me he had an opening on his staff and wanted me to be his freshman coach. Well, to start off coaching at the major college level was almost more than I could believe. I never thought it would come so quickly.

"My plans were to play pro football, move on to high school coaching and then work my way up to the college level."

Fambrough coached 19 years at Kansas under Sikes, Jack Mitchell and Pepper Rodgers, three at East Texas State under Sikes and one year at Wichita State... always as an assistant.

When Rodgers went to UCLA early in 1971,

METS, CUBS POST WINS
... NL East Race Closer

By The Associated Press
The five teams chasing after the National League's Eastern Division title became more closely bunched Sunday, with the New York Mets and Chicago Cubs winning while the first-place Cardinals, second-place Pirates and third-place Expos lost.

A mere three games now separate the five teams still competing for the crown.

The Mets took advantage of two Montreal errors in the fifth inning to score two runs and continue to a 3-0 victory over the Expos. The win kept the Mets in fourth, but just three games behind St. Louis. The Expos fell 2½ games behind.

Billy Williams hit his 19th home run of the season to lift the Chicago Cubs to a 5-4 victory over the Cardinals and a move three games behind the leaders.

Pittsburgh's Pirates blew a six-run lead and Philadelphia, the team with the least hope of winning the title, 8-7. Willie Montanez hit a leadoff home run in the bottom of the ninth inning to keep the Pirates one game behind St. Louis.

In other National League games, the Cincinnati Reds blasted the Atlanta Braves 14-6 and 7-0 in a doubleheader, the Houston Astros trimmed the San Francisco Giants 5-4 and the Los Angeles Dodgers topped the San Diego Padres 5-3.

In the American League, the Cleveland Indians topped the Baltimore Orioles 6-4 in the first game of a twin-bill but dropped the nightcap 13-4, the Milwaukee Brewers clobbered the New York Yankees 10-3, the Detroit Tigers edged the Boston Red Sox 5-4, the Chicago White Sox topped the Minnesota Twins 10-7 and the Kansas City Royals swept the California Angels 7-5 and 6-3.

George Foster drove in five runs in the opener with Johnny Bench drilling his 25th home run of the baseball season and driving in four runs in the nightcap to carry the Reds to their sweep of Atlanta.

A three-run homer in the eighth inning by Houston's Lee May powered the Astros past the Giants. San Francisco had taken a 3-1 lead into the inning, but May's shot capped a four-run, game-winning rally.

The Dodgers ended a nine-game losing streak with their victory over the Padres. Joe Ferguson's three-run home run in the sixth inning helped end San Diego's six-game win streak.

Dave Duncan's three-run homer highlighted the Indians' victory over the Orioles, but Boog Powell's three-run shot started Baltimore on the way to triumph in the nightcap.

Dave May's grand slam home run capped a seven-run second-inning Milwaukee rally and highlighted the Brewers' win over the Yankees.

Tony Taylor and Ike Brown homered to pace the Tiger triumph over the Red Sox.

A two-run throwing error by Minnesota shortstop Jerry Terrell gave Jim Kaat and the White Sox the winning run. The victory was the third in a row for Kaat since coming to the Chicago from the Twins.

Sloppy fielding and wildness by California's Andy Hassler made it easy for the Royals in the first game, while Lou Piniella's two-run double broke a 3-3 tie and sparked the Royals' win in the nightcap.

Texas' rejuvenated Rangers gave new Manager Billy Martin his second consecutive victory Sunday night and ended Catfish Hunter's 14-game winning streak by beating the Oakland A's 5-3.

Jim Bibby, 7-9, went 4 2-3 innings before allowing a scratch single up the middle which second baseman Dave Nelson fielded behind the bag but was unable to make a play. It was the A's first hit in 14 1-3 innings off Bibby, who no-hit them in Oakland July 30.

Bibby allowed two hits in 7 2-3 shutout innings before leaving with an apparent pulled leg muscle. Pat Bourque greeted reliever Lloyd Allen with a two-run triple and scored on Jesus Alou's single.

9 New Faces Outdo 9 Old Ones

By HAL BROWN

Star Sports Editor

UCLA coach Pepper Rodgers was remarking earlier this fall in discussing the fact that his defensive platoon was returning nine of the 11 starters from a year ago:

"Sometimes having players back is like having the measles..."

When those nine returnees lined up against the Nebraska offense late Saturday afternoon, they saw only two familiar faces from the night of Sept. 9 a year ago in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The only Husker offensive starters from that 20-17 loss in the L.A. Coliseum, who started in Saturday's 40-13 win were left tackle Daryl White and split end Frosty Anderson.

And it was an entirely different backfield with Steve Runty at quarterback, Ritch Bahe at wingback, Tony Davis at I-back and Maury Damkroger at fullback replacing, respectively, David Humm, Johnny Rodgers, Gary Dixon and Bill Olds.

Surely no one would suggest that having a Humm or a Rodgers back in the starting lineup would compare with a case of measles, but in every case, save for the pass receiving of Rodgers and List a year ago, their replacements performed better Saturday.

Runty ran eight times for 19 yards; Humm ran four and lost eight yards. Runty hit 9 of 11 passes with one interception for 105 yards; Humm hit 8 of 21 with two interceptions for 146 yards.

Davis carried the ball 24 times and gained 147 yards; Dixon carried 15 times for 65 yards.

Davis caught three passes for 32 yards; Dixon failed to catch a pass.

Bahe gained 49 yards on six carries; Rodgers gained 43 on seven plays. Bahe caught one pass for 11 yards; Rodgers grabbed three for 63 yards.

Damkroger carried eight times for 36 yards; Olds 10 times for 20 yards.

Randy Borg, replacing Rodgers as the deep man on punts, returned five for 98 yards, one at 77-yarder for a TD; Rodgers returned four for 75 yards and no touchdowns.

Longwell caught three passes for 39 yards; List was three for 74 yards.

And, most important of all to Husker fans, coach Tom Osborne, replacing Bob Devaney, walked off the field with a 40-13 victory. Devaney walked off with a 20-17 defeat.

NEW HUSKER HEROES... Tom Osborne, not Bob Devaney, with plays in hand, upper right photo, directs Huskers from sidelines as Randy Borg (19), not Johnny Rodgers, runs back punt 77 yards for touchdown, Steve Runty (13), not David Humm, gets set to throw one of nine passes he completed in 11 tries and Tony Davis (25) gives Huskers running attack that was missing a year ago.

... NORTH CAROLINA STATE SCOUT PREDICTS WOLFPACK WILL BE LESS PREDICTABLE THAN UCLA

By MARK GORDON

Star Sports Writer

Although impressed with Nebraska's 40-13 thrashing of UCLA's football team, North Carolina State scout Jim Rudgers had a warning for the Cornhuskers.

"Anytime you win, 40-13, you've got to be impressed," the Wolfpack graduate assistant said after preparing notes for NCS head coach Lou Holtz. "But UCLA is a very predictable football team and we're a little more unpredictable than they are.

"We're a passing team and not afraid to do different things," he said. "I can assure you we'll do a lot more things than UCLA."

North Carolina State, which opened its campaign with a 57-8 victory over East Carolina at home Saturday night, meets the Huskers at Memorial Stadium on Sept. 22. And don't think that Rudgers and his scouting aide Darrell Moody won't be sending back complimentary notes on NU.

"Their (NU) defense comes right at you. It's actually a simple defense but they play it so well and UCLA just seemed to fit into it," Rudgers said. "Offensively, if that's your second-team quarterback (Steve Runty, who replaced the injured Dave Humm throughout the contest) you definitely won't have any problems at that spot.

"The offensive line comes out so quick and that number 25 (I-back Tony Davis) is a real fine runner," he said. "The Nebraska kicking game looked in pretty good shape for this time of year."

But Rudgers pointed to breaks which favored Nebraska such as favorable field position early in the game and UCLA losing three of six fumbles.

He said the Huskers used their opportunities well but added that UCLA seemed to "get down and they didn't seem to have it all together."

Rudgers noted that there were certain items he observed that the Wolfpack could use to their advantage. He declined to elaborate on those points.

"Sure, it's going to be tough to come over here and play Nebraska," he said. "We know that, but if we didn't think we would have a chance in the game, we wouldn't be here."

"We have most of our people back (Froman 8-3-1 season) forward to a real good year," he said. "But we have a tough schedule with Nebraska, Georgia and our Atlantic Coast Conference teams."

Next NCS meets Virginia next Saturday night. Nebraska is idle on that day. Rudgers, however, fails to see any advantage for either squad.

"I don't think the two-week lull (for Nebraska) is going to make much of a difference in our game although that's a long time to wait after getting that first game in," he said. "I really don't think it'll make much of a difference."

So how good is Nebraska?

"We really couldn't get a true look at the Nebraska defense because we're so much different than UCLA, but they have good personnel. Nebraska played very well against UCLA."

a blocking back on D. X. Bible's single wing club that won the Southwest Conference title. He enrolled at Kansas after the war.

Fambrough is witty, easy going, personable and extremely popular with alumni and high school coaches.

The Jayhawk coach likes his job and the challenge of trying to restore Kansas to football respectability.

"It is with great anticipation we look forward to the coming season," says Fambrough, whose two previous campaigns ended in identical 4-7 records. "This will be the best team I've had here. We've turned the corner."

Wade Wins Fair Feature

By STEVE GILLISPIE

Star Sports Writer

Lincolnton Joe Wade almost didn't enter the International Motor Contest Association (IMCA) late model stock car races Sunday afternoon at the Nebraska State Fair.

As a late entry the 25-year-old firefighter won the 50-lap, 25-mile feature race for his biggest career victory and earned the first-place purse of $400.

Wade had to overcome two obstacles to compete against some of the best IMCA drivers in the country.

He had to find someone to take his place at the fire station during the time he'd be gone.

The Lincoln native found a replacement to work for him, but when he got to the track, the car he was supposed to drive wasn't there.

However, co-owner, Ron Pullman of Claytonia soon showed up with the black 1972 Chevrolet Chevelle much to the relief of Wade and the other co-owner, Phil Durst of Lincoln.

Wade qualified for the feature by placing second in the third heat.

In the feature, he started near the back of the 20-car field, but gradually moved up each lap as David City's Terry Richards led until the 30th lap.

Coming out of the last turn on the 30th lap, Richards ran out of gas and Wade took over the lead. He then breezed to the win.

"Only when I saw the white flag did I think I had the race won because so many cars were dropping out of the race because of mechanical troubles," Wade said.

"I just tried to save my engine after I got the lead and keep everything together."

The white flag meant Wade only had one lap left and after the race was over, the Lincoln High graduate went back to work at the fire station.

Wade qualified for the feature by placing second in the third heat.

In the feature, he started near the back of the 20-car field, but gradually moved up each lap as David City's Terry Richards led

Snead Captures Seniors Title

Portsmouth, Va. (AP) — Sam Snead came from behind a tree and won his second straight World Seniors golf championship Sunday, defeating Australia's Kel Nagle with a 20-foot birdie putt on the fifth hole of a sudden death playoff.

The 61-year-old Snead and Nagle were even after 36 holes of match play with British champion Nagle 11 under par and Snead 10 under over the 7,102-yard, par-72 Bide-A-Wee course.

Both golfers got into trouble on the second playoff hole after they had birdied the first.

Snead's tee shot went off to the right into the woods and landed in a hole. The U.S. PGA Seniors champion, who now has won the world seniors title five times, tried to convince the officials someone had stepped on his ball, but he was forced to play from the hole.

Ali, Norton Bout Monday

Inglewood, Calif. (UPI) — A trimmed-down Muhammad Ali, who acknowledges a defeat probably will bring his one-fabled career to an end, pits his fading boxing skills against the rock-hard muscle of Ken Norton Monday night in a rematch of the No. 1 and No. 2 heavyweight contenders.

Although the 28-year-old Norton is rated as the top challenger for George Foreman's crown, he is a 5-2 underdog against Ali, the former champion whom he beat on a 12-round split decision at San Diego March 31.

A poker-faced Ali weighed 212 and Norton came in at 205 at Sunday's official weigh-in at the new Marriott Hotel where both fighters trained since last Wednesday. Ali weighed 221 and Norton 210 for their first fight.

Ali, who did not speak to Norton, said, "I'm in condition. You will see tomorrow night. It won't go the distance." Norton remarked, "I think I'm gonna win."

"If a man can follow me and get away with a lot of punches while I'm prancing and dancing and in real tip-top shape and serious," said Ali, "then it's time for me to retire."

In their first meeting, Ali suffered a broken jaw and he's worked long and hard in his bid to erase the stigma of the loss 5½ months ago to a 5-1 underdog.

"I have come this time," he declared, "for some serious Muhammad Ali dancing."

Weiskopf Wins Time

AKRON, OHIO (UPI) — Tom Weiskopf got an unexpected break when Jack Nicklaus missed a pair of little "gimme" putts Sunday and won the World Series of Golf by three strokes to cap a spectacular summer of success.

Weiskopf, the British Open champion who trailed Nicklaus by four shots after only the first four holes of this exclusive competition on Saturday, shot a four-under par 66 that gave him a 36-hole total of 137 for the $50,000 first prize.

Nicklaus, golf's all-time top winner of major championships and U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller tied for second at 140 with rounds of 69 and 67, respectively.

Masters champion Tommy Aaron, never a factor in this battle among winners of the world four major championships, had a 73 for 149.

The tournament figured to be a battle between Weiskopf and Nicklaus, former teammates at Ohio State, and it was, Nicklaus spotted Weiskopf an early three-stroke lead.

Wagener Wins

Two Snipe Races

Malcolm — Jack Wagener had to borrow a vessel from Neil Tinningard to compete in the Lincoln Snipe Fleet racing this weekend at Branched Oak Lake, but he won both races.

Art Yost and Commodore Cup champion Dr. Hal Horn each took a second and third in the two races.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
